

Who can we help?

Courier Companies

With expertise in handling parcels and smaller consignments, couriers may need support with larger shipments which have different handling and documentation requirements. Quality Solutions do not offer courier Services and we don't ship inland, so that makes us a great partner for courier companies who want to support existing and new clients by adding international freight forwarding to their list of services, without involving a competitor.

Freight Shippers

Every freight forwarder has their specialist area, which may be geographical or the type of freight they handle. At Quality Solutions, our niche is in offering services to the Far East. We also have access to dedicated services for hazardous materials and works of art. If your focus is on other parts of the world, we can help you extend your reach into the lucrative Chinese and Far Eastern markets with a comprehensive understanding of the regulations and expectations that prevail there. We are happy to consider non-compete agreements to build reliable long term trusted partnerships.

Companies exporting to the Far East

With the Far East being both one of the most lucrative markets in the world for exporters, you need a reliable freight partner who understands the challenges of shipping into the region. With China, Singapore, India, and many other countries having unique requirements for documenting and handling goods being brought into the region Quality Solutions experience on the ground in Asia will help you create valuable new markets in some of the world's most thriving economies.

Companies importing from the Far East regularly

As a leading manufacturing hub serving the rest of the world, the Far East has a huge amount of freight leaving it every day for markets across the globe. Having a freight partner who understands your business and the need to get deliveries just in time, to maintain the stock levels that feed production and retail environments. Dependable, consistent freight forwarding from the manufacturing point to the customer's warehouse, efficient communication, clear lead times and correct documentation is essential to the smooth running of your business, and Quality Solutions' 15 years' experience makes us the ideal partner to keep your business moving.

One Off Consignments

Many organisations and individuals need to send occasional consignments abroad. It may be artworks for exhibition, or antiques for the growing Far East market. Quality Solutions understand the need for careful packing to ensure the goods arrive undamaged. Strict laws about the transport of antiquities and hazardous materials are also better managed by a company who have the experience and capability to treat each shipment with the care it deserves. Quality Solutions understand that time sensitive deliveries such as printed material for conferences, or artist's equipment for events and festivals need to be managed sensitively and that clear communications are vital.

Who are quality solutions?

Quality Solutions was born out of many years working in logistics and freight forwarding. With 17 years' experience in the industry, Managing Director Swati Bargale saw the opportunity to offer a better sort of freight forwarding and set up Quality Solutions to cater for those who need a personal service that meets their exacting standards. Her core ethos is to invest in the needs of customers and partners to tailor every consignment to the customer's business requirement. Constantly working to enhance the support to the customer and provide the best solution catered to our customers' individual needs we strive to deliver beyond logistics expectations.

Being based in Hounslow Middlesex, close to Heathrow, one of the busiest airports in the world, means that wherever your shipment is going we can provide a solution on time, and on budget.

Building strategic partnerships with clients who are not prepared to settle for less is where we have found our place in the Global shipping market. While we specialize in the Far East, including Hong Kong, China, Singapore, South Korea, Taiwan and Japan as well as Australasia, we can offer shipment to all destinations around the world. We know that the main place where shipments have problems is in clearing customs at their destination, and our experience of working across the world means that we take the steps necessary to ensure simple clearance for every shipment.

What do we do?

Freight forwarding is a service used by companies to transport goods from one destination to another. At Quality Solutions, we organise shipments in the most cost-effective and problem-free manner possible.

We negotiate with carriers, secure space on planes, boats, and trucks, arrange for insurance, and verify documentation. We also help you navigate the complex international shipping regulations, and make sure your shipment complies with the regulations in the countries you are exporting to. Our services can be door to door between our clients and their customers and suppliers or transferred between airports.
